

I support having the No-Call list left as it is. I don't want to receive these annoying telemarketing calls, and I don't think most people do, either.